CLEANING HOUSE

Feb 95

Your name is not permitted to be spoken in this house

Those that forget are quickly put in check by fire of my anger

The memories dredged up from the past @ the mere mention of your name are more painful than I can bear

The only thoughts that seem to be comforting are ones where you are not present

GONE!

Not present for visual confirmation.

Not present for spiritual awareness.

Out of sight / Out of mind

GONE!

Your pictures are not hung on the wall in this house

The scent of your loam has long escaped existing now only where you lie and in distant corners

Your traces are slowly being erased

This house is the easy part to clean, it's those places in me where you were allowed in that your memories are stubbornly clinging
